HOW WE GOT ACCESS

Bhavya Jain (group member) has direct family ties to HiTech Techno's ownership — a family business.

This enabled privileged access to management, operations staff, and internal documents, allowing us to observe actual workflows rather than relying on reported practices.

Digital Invisibility

in a Digitally-Driven B2B Market

△ KEY DEFICIENCIES

- No social media presence whatsoever — LinkedIn, Facebook, Instagram: all absent
- Static brochure-only website — no pricing, no search, no live inventory, no contact form
- 100% word-of-mouth acquisition — zero inbound digital leads ever recorded
- Zero digital marketing spend — no Google Ads, no SEO, no content strategy
- Invisible to new B2B buyers — <200 website visits/month vs. thousands for competitors

"80% of B2B sales interactions will occur through digital channels by 2025" — Gartner, 2020 Future of Sales

RESOURCE-BASED VIEW (RBV)

Strengths

✓ Relationships

Deep trust-based network; 40+ clients; 80% repeat revenue

✓ Sourcing

Established tier-1 manufacturer relationships; competitive pricing

Gaps

⚠ Digital Assets

Advantages invisible online. New buyers cannot discover HiTech.

⚠ Scalability

Non-digital resources cap growth at ~40 accounts.

STRATEGIC RISKS

- Market share erosion to digital-native rivals
- Revenue plateau — capped at ~40 accounts
- Relationship attrition with no digital backup
